

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The present invention pertains to a method for providing dental hygiene which method employs a low moisture chewing gum or confectionery product containing as active 5 ingredients, a combination of sodium bicarbonate and casein phosphopeptide-amorphous calcium phosphate. The invention also concerns the chewing gums and confectionery products that can provide dental health benefits and methods for their preparation.